Gilpin and daughter of Bartlesboro, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gilpin and Miss Hazel of Westfield, Miss Eva of town and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Gay of Orleans, were guests at the new Gilpin home Saturday, the gathered being a family reunion and a combined Christmas and New Year's celebration and housewarming. This is the first time the Gilpin family has been together for eight years.

One of the most enjoyable social functions ever given under the auspices of the academy, was the first annual alumni social, which was held in academy hall on Thursday evening, with about as many of their friends and former schoolmates were present and the spirit of loyalty to Old B. A., which has for several years been prominent was even more emphatic on this occasion. Miss Marion Redfield sang two songs in her most pleasing manner and Miss Marion Newland of Boston sang two songs which were enthusiastically received. Batchelder's orchestra furnished some excellent music and all present were enthusiastic over this particularly enjoyable evening.

Seventeen members of the Afternoon Study club and four visitors enjoyed a very pleasant meeting with Mrs. F. D. Pierce Thursday, Dec. 29. The program was "Sir Edwin Landseer." Roll call, "Notes from Landseer's Character" as an Artist, "Mrs. Ellen Miles; a brief description of his most famous pictures," King

New Year's Dinner and Roll Call at the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The New Year's dinner and roll call at the M. E. church was a very helpful and inspiring occasion, from both a social and a spiritual standpoint. The dinner, provided by the men's "Upper Room" Bible class, was tempting to the toothsome and satisfying. Following is the menu: Oyster stew, rolls, doughnuts, four kinds of pie, pickles, cheese, and coffee. One hundred and sixty five proceeded to satisfy the "inner man," and the writer has not yet heard a word of dissatisfaction. During the dinner hour the Schubert orchestra rendered several delightful selections, thereby adding not a little to the enjoyment of those present.

After all had dined the following program was given: Organ voluntary, Mrs. Bessie Adams; scripture reading and prayer, pastor; solo, Mrs. Mabel Blake; singing by the congregation, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," roll call. Sixty-seven members were present and nine answered by letter. Remarks by Rev. R. F. Lowe, superintendent of the St. Johnsbury district; solo, C. B. Webster; "History of the Local Church," Rev. A. B. Blake. (This will appear in full in the Monitor within few weeks.) The pastor then called the district superintendent and the official members within the chancel while the congregation was singing, "God Be with You 'till We Meet Again." Then, to soft music, the congregation marched up the south aisle, passed in front of the chancel, shook hands with those standing within, passed on down the center, and went out. It was an occasion which, we believe, will not soon be forgotten, and whose influence will be felt throughout our whole constituency.

Supt. R. F. Lowe preached here Sunday.

Union services were held in the church Sunday evening. Rev. W. A. Warner occupied the pulpit.

Services Sunday as usual. A meeting of the Sunday School board will be held after the prayer meeting on Thursday evening. All members should be present.

Charles' Spaniels, "Shoeing," "Suspense," "The Monarch of the Glen," "Peace and War," was read by Mrs. H. W. Carter; "Dignity and Imprudence," "The Sleeping Blood Hound," "The Hunted Stag," "The Highland Shepherd's Chief Mourner," and "Connoisseurs," was read by Mrs. Alice Vercoe. Miss Gertrude Skinner told a pleasing manner a story, entitled, "The Tailor of Gloucester." Music on a phonograph was furnished.

Regardless of the inclement weather of Wednesday evening, Dec. 29th, eighteen members of the Women's Literary club and one visitor gathered at the home of Mrs. Ruth Webster for the annual Christmas tree. Entertainment was provided as follows: Piano duet, "Mazurka" by Nevin, Miss Eveleth and Mrs. Pillsbury; reading of "The Story of the Other Wise Man," Miss Fanny May. Gifts from the tree were distributed by Miss Redfield and Miss Scott, with many pleasant comments. Paper, "Maude Adams," Mrs. Pillsbury. Delightful refreshments were then served by the hostess and the program continued. Solo, "A Voice that Calls at Even," by M. E. Dandridge, Miss Redfield; solo, "Off to the Kingdom of Dreams," Mrs. Ruth Webster. At intervals throughout the evening choice selections were rendered on the victrola by the hostess. Thus ended another of the enjoyable social meetings.

Ed. Town and family of Newport visited at W. J. Monteth's the past week.

Mrs. Amanda (Foss) Foster, one of our oldest citizens, died at the home of W. J. Monteth Dec. 27th, where she made in her home for the past four years. She was born in New Hampshire Oct. 30, 1829, of a family of 13 children, now living, Mrs. Juliet Overmyer of Seneca, Kansas, Mrs. Ann F. Baldwin of Lyndonville and a brother, Mozart, of Cambridge, Mass. She married Elisha Foster April 6, 1867, and always lived here with the exception of about six years when they lived in Barton where Mr. Foster died about four years ago. The funeral was held at the house Wednesday, Rev. Dwight Moody of St. Johnsbury, conducting the services. Mrs. Foster was an honest, upright woman and devoted her life to her home. She leaves to mourn her loss besides her sisters and brothers her adopted son, Charles S. Foster, of St. Johnsbury. Those from out of town that attended the funeral were John Webster, a brother-in-law, and Mrs. Colby, a niece, of Lyndonville. Charles Baldwin of Keene, N. H., Henry Baldwin, Miss Isadore Foss, E. W. Barron, Osmond Dwyer, M. C. Heath, Mrs. Della Wilson, Mrs. Lucia Alexander, all of Barton. Interment was in the family lot at Brownington Center.

I wish to thank the friends for their kindness to me during the sickness and burial of my mother, also for the necessities to W. J. Monteth and family with whom she has made her home for the past four years.
